Drawings and sketches throughout this history were done by E. C. Kruseman.

Everaad Coenraad Kruseman was born January 10, 1815, in Utrecht, Holland. His parents owned a sugar mill where he worked with his father. Everaad was a very good artist. He drew many large pictures on the doors and walls of the sugar mill. He also painted a picture of a horse coming through a barn door for a museum. The descendents still have four 19" x 24" pictures that he drew. The titles, "Morning", "Noon", "Evening" and "Night", were written on the picture in French and English. He was a butcher as well as a farmer, and spoke French well.

Everaad Coenraad was married to Johanna Geurts, who was born Feb. 4, 1825. Ten children were born to this union. They lost two children, Jacobus in 1857 and Johannes in 1865 by drowning. They farmed in Gelderland Holland. Everaad Coenraad Kruseman died at his home of pneumonia on Sept. 4, 1881, at the age of 66 years. In 1882 mother Johanna decided to bring the family to America because the Queen wanted the sons to serve in the army. In the fall two sons, Jacobus and Alexander, sailed to America and came to Pella looking for a farm for the family. Three miles south of Sully, in the Chester neighborhood, they bought one from Mr. Harvey. The house then looked as it is pictured on the front cover. Persons in the picture are from left Jacobus, Klazena, Hendrika, Mother Johanna Kruseman, Johannes. It has a stairway, railing, and cupboards built of walnut. The house still remains but has been remodeled several times. Great-great grandson, Johnnie De Jong, now lives there.

In the spring of 1883 before leaving Holland death struck again. The oldest daughter, Henrietta Ida Wilhelmina, passed away in child birth. Because of this Mother Johanna decided to stay in Holland. But the sons had already purchased a farm so with two sons and three daughters they set sail for America. Also with them was her daughter's husband and their three sons. The infant of 6 months, cared for by its grandmother Johanna, died on her lap three days before landing in New York. The two older sons stayed with their father, who remarried in America.

Four days after leaving Holland the anchor scew of the ship broke so they put up sail and returned to England where it took a week to fix it. Because of the delay the captain decided to take a shorter route going farther north, hoping to make up for lost time. Here the ship ran into icebergs so the captain had to let it drift. One iceberg was several hundred feet above the water and the captain said 2/3rds of it was yet under the water. These were very anxious moments. The icebergs would hit the ship with so much noise it sounded like the ship was breaking apart. They were on the water 28 days before landing in New York.

Before the family could leave Holland the government confiscated much of their wealth and before they arrived in America many of their possessions were lost to thieves. Therefore by the time they became settled on the farm their economy had changed a great deal.

Mother Johanna had taken nurses training in Holland and served as midwife and nurse in the states. She lived on the farm the sons had bought the rest of her life. John De Jong, husband of her youngest daughter, Klazena, purchased the farm and she made her home with them for 4½ years.

Death came unexpectedly on a very hot summer day in July. The day before she was not feeling well; they were getting ready to thresh grain. Klazena's brother-in-law, Floris De Jong, got too hot on the steam engine. They carried him under a tree and were going to put his feet into cold water when mother Johanna heard them. She called telling them to use the hot water that had been heated for the threshers coffee time. She said he would have died instantly if they used cold water. Jim De Jong, who stayed there that night, got up early the next morning to fire the steam engine and saw her lying on the floor. He called the children. She lived only a short while longer and died suddenly of a heart attack in the early morning hours of July 24, 1901. She was buried at the Dairy Grove Cemetery about 3 miles from her home at the age of 76 years, 5 months, and 20 days.

Age 76 yrs. 5 mos. 20 days

Dearest mother thou has't left us
And our loss we keeply feel
But 'tis God that hath bereft us,
He can all our sorrow heal
Such was her end, a calm release
No clinging to this mortal clod,
She closed her eyes, and stood in peace
Before a smiling God.

This picture was brought from Holland in the spring of 1882 -- it being the wedding picture of Great Grandma Dwars, mother of Johanna Geurts Kruseman. The frame is of small colored pieces of marble stone.

1. Johanna Geurts Kruseman's picture taken in America.
2. Johanna Geurts Kruseman's hair made in a flower wreath by Emma Kruseman.
3. Knitted white night cap of E. C. Kruseman.
4. Night hood of Johanna G. Kruseman.
5. A pair of white knitted stockings with red cross stitch markings.

Grandaughter Johanna Eysink displaying Great Grandma Dwars plaid black silk wedding shawl as in the picture. Also Johanna G. Kruseman's hood and slippers with her mother's skirt.

I wish to thank all the relatives who have helped me in making this book possible.
